

Notification for the International Hydrogen and Fuel Cell Vehicle Congress & Exhibition 2024 (FCVC 2024)

Distinguished guests, partners, and industry peers,

Against the backdrop of striving for carbon peak and carbon neutrality, China is actively advancing the large-scale development and utilization of renewable energy, along with the green transformation of petrochemical and steel industries. In this context, the adoption of hydrogen energy emerges as a crucial means for carbon reduction and the transformation of numerous industries. Among the pivotal applications of hydrogen energy in the transportation sector, hydrogen fuel cell vehicles represent a key direction for the global electrification of automotive powertrains. Industries are fervently promoting the utilization of hydrogen production from renewable energy sources, alongside advancements in hydrogen energy storage. Collaboratively, they are working with hydrogen fuel cell vehicles to establish a closed loop for the application of hydrogen energy.

The International Hydrogen and Fuel Cell Vehicle Congress & Exhibition 2024 (FCVC 2024), co-organized by the China Society of Automotive Engineers (China SAE) and the International Hydrogen Fuel Cell Association (IHFC), is scheduled to take place from June 4th to 6th in Jiading, Shanghai. Under the theme 'Concentrating on Innovation, Propelling the Future: Firmly Promoting High-Quality Growth in Hydrogen Energy and Fuel Cell Vehicles', the conference will feature "1 Plenary Session, 5 Side Events, and 7 Theme Summits." Additionally, the event will include a 3-day professional technology and equipment exhibition, encompassing exciting activities such as technical tours and new product launches. The conference aims to establish an authoritative and professional international cooperation and exchange platform for the industry. It seeks to collectively promote the integration and
